President's Message

We don't tend to do this often enough (it's so much easier to complain), but every once in a while it's important to take stock of the good things in life. Reflecting on Conference racing, I'd have to say that life feels pretty good right now. The racing season is going well, and in general, everyone is maintaining a positive attitude and having FUN.

It just seems to me there is a little extra enthusiasm this year, with more camaraderie, more active mentoring, and more promotion of Conference than I have seen in a long time. The novices have picked up on the Conference spirit too. (Especially J.C., who brings flamboyance, humor, and lots of salsa!!) I don't really know why, but I like to think it's because more attention is being paid to one question, "What can we do to make Conference an even better place to be?"

All year, Conference officials, clubs, drivers, and workers have been pulling together, putting new ideas into practice in an attempt to improve our events (& your racing experiences) while still maintaining the overall spirit and integrity of ICSCC. Here's a sampling of what has happened in 2008:

- A third steward is present at each race.
- The Novice Open Wheel class was combined with Group 6 and it is now possible for most open wheel cars to add a second run group. Group 6 grids are growing.
- Special race groups have been added to many events.
- More active recruiting efforts have resulted in the addition of new workers to our ranks (but let's keep adding more!).
- And on the web, drivers are inviting/encouraging fellow drivers to come out and race. (It sure made a difference in Spokane!)

In my opinion, all of the above actions have been helpful. But some were implemented on a 1-year trial basis and will be discussed and re-evaluated at the Fall Meeting. So I'm interested in hearing what you think.

How would you rate the impact of these changes? What other factors do you believe have contributed to our overall success and sense of well-being? What is good about our organization? What else can/should we do to continue to improve? Now is a great time to let me know your thoughts and suggestions.

By the time you read this, five more races (#4-#8) will have been successfully completed since I last made mention of our schedule. As you all know, the motorsports community rallied together to persuade Spokane County to purchase the track there. We owe a debt of gratitude to the members of NWMS for their superb efforts in this endeavor. Thanks also go to the drivers who came to support NWMS and demonstrate to the County our passion for racing. It was a great event. We had the privilege of being the first group to race there under new ownership, and County Commissioners, the mayor, and multiple news crews showed up to document the occurrence. We actually got some great coverage on the evening news! On the way home, Dan and I stopped by Grass Valley to check the progress of Oregon Raceway Park. Well, I can report that construction is definitely underway, and it's beginning to look a lot like a racetrack.

The Car Tender Challenge, August 2-3 at Pacific Raceways, saw the largest turnout of drivers so far this season - over 260 entries, two special races and Pro-3 grids of 25-30 cars. Wow!

Steward's Soapbox

Just an item or two from me...

First, I really need to emphasize an important issue here. Last weekend at Pacific Raceways there was something strange in the air I think and somehow it altered everyone's perception of yellow and black flags on course. There were absolutely TOO MANY passes under these conditions!!! In fact, one is too many! And the racing speeds weren't slowing down in the incident areas at all!!!

The next time I hear from a corner station that is responding to an accident or stranded car nearby with a waving yellow flag and is yelling in their radio that no one is slowing down near the incident...I WILL END YOUR RACE RIGHT THEN AND THERE and you can pack your car and gear and tow home!

Putting our volunteers at unnecessary risk of injury or death because drivers don't want to lift and slow their speeds at a local yellow will not be tolerated!

All it is going to take is the one time for someone to make the compromise in their mind that they can't lose ground to the car ahead that they've been trying to catch or the ground they've made on the car trying to catch them and they don't slow down and then...wham!!! They're spinning and out of control and headed straight for a corner worker who is unprotected and trying to get your buddy out of his car who has spun a bit earlier. If something like this truly does happen...we can all just kiss this golden era of racing with Conference good-bye.

I don't mean to too negative here, but this is the harsh reality we play with each race weekend. And I'm not going to have it happen on my watch.

That's all I've got this time. See you all soon.

Hal Hilton
2008 ICSCC Race Steward

No Penalty Box this issue.

Next up will be the Labor Day double race weekend in Mission. They have a full slate of activities planned (Ever played Pre-grid Ball Hockey?) and I expect large grids and good weather. Remember, they also have a new track configuration this year, which got positive reviews at their first event. I would love to see lots of you there.

And finally, a few reminders . . .

Championship points for races 1-6 are included in this issue (you can also find them on the web). Please check them for accuracy and report any errors to the Points Keeper right away. These points are the basis for year-end awards and trophies.

Drivers, Contest Board Reps are beginning to hold rules change meetings. Right now you have a chance to submit and vote on proposals that could revise or add rules to the 2009 Competition Regulations. I hope you take the time to attend your club's meeting.

It's also time to be thinking about 'Driver of the Year' nominations. The criteria for selection are sportsmanship (on and off the track), driving ability, and contributions to ICSCC. Each member club, affiliate club or licensed driver may submit written nominations to the Race Steward. Any input relating to the 'Novice of the Year' selection should be submitted to the License Director.

One last thing to remember - life is short. I hope you'll take some time this season to enjoy the good moments, appreciate what we have, reflect on why we do what we do, and give some thought to what you can personally do to make it even better.

I'll see you at the track.

How a Conference Turn Marshall Created a Trackside Parts Business Now Preferred by Most NW Road Racers

If you are new to racing or an old hand, "Armadillo Andy" has what you need to get started and keep going with simply the best service in the NW if not the country. If he doesn't have what you need, he'll tell you where to get it. Yep, over 25 years of serving the racing community and still going strong, you have a trusted friend in "Armadillo Andy." Here's his true story.

Andy Collins has loved sports car racing since his childhood days of listening to the Indy 500 on the radio. When he graduated from the University of Texas in 1975, he bought his first car, a 1975 Pontiac Trans-Am, and joined up with the Texas Spokane Sports Car Club in Austin to autocross. Ya see, Texas is where he got the name for his business, Armadillo Racing. Before long he was working as a turn marshal and did so for 12 years, but he was just itching to be more involved with the drivers and cars. At the suggestion of a few friends, he invested in HRC Racing Fuel and a few parts, and took 'em to the track to sell. That was 1986 and ever since he's been adding more and more parts to his trailer, and bringing them out to the track to help you when you most need it, trackside on race weekends.

As a result "Armadillo Andy" is quite well known in the NW Racing Community and must perform 'cause if he doesn't everyone will tell their friends and news travels fast in the paddock. It is unbelievable that Andy has only missed about 4 Conference race weekends in the USA since 1986. Oh, he wished he could go to Canada but Customs makes that nearly impossible. Through wind, rain, snow and yes, even a little Texas-like heat, he's been there for you to get you going. If the Tech Inspector says, "Fix it or go home," or you have a mechanical failure that leaves you hung out, chances are good Andy has what you need to get you back on the track. Nope, he doesn't have all the parts, but what he has kept more races going than anyone else. Everyone who knows Andy knows how much he cares for you and your racing program.

Andy has raced (held a Conference license), served as President of IRDC, EB of NW Region SCCA, even was the Conference PR director years ago, but he is most happy helping racers. His "flag talk" at the IRDC driver's schools has been enjoyed by literally thousands of students over the years. Arguably he's gotten more drivers initially outfitted to race than any other local supplier, but it doesn't end there, Andy wants you to be a racer for life, so he's constantly busting his butt to take care of all your racing needs. It is all summed up in the Armadillo Racing motto, "On Track With All Your Racing Needs."

Here's his contact info: www.armadilloracing.com or call toll free (USA & CN) 1-888-211-9129. Andy lives in Bonneton where he can keep prices reasonable and offers business hours a working person can appreciate (3:30 PM to 8:30 PM Monday through Friday and whenever you can catch him on the weekend) but the truth is he'll work to your schedule. On race weekends he's at the track of course. Just call and ask for "Armadillo Andy," he can't wait to hear from you. ■

Clear the Mind for Racing

Racing safely, even in club events, takes tremendous concentration and attention to detail to pull off. Several years ago I attended a lecture by Jennifer James, an urban cultural anthropologist. The one comment I've never forgotten is "If you listen to talk radio during your commute, by the time you arrive at work your brain is full."

In reality it is way too easy to fill your conscious mind with garbage irrelevant to the task at hand. Sure it is important to get that tool back from Red Racer, but that's not what you should be thinking about on track. The following tricks have helped me have "more space" in my brain for racing.

- ✦ Prepare for the race weekend early. Start right after the previous race with a list of needs and a schedule for completion. Allow for spousal- or work-related interruptions.
- ✦ Prioritize your schedule as race weekend approaches. Mow the lawn on Monday, not Friday. Work O.T. next week – heck, it's only money.
- ✦ Make a list of standard items to take to the track. Keep it handy so you can add items as you discover their need.
- ✦ Organize your track gear so it is easy to pack up.
- ✦ Arrive early so you have plenty of time to set up camp, register, go through tech, and get both car and driver ready for the track.
- ✦ Highlight the race schedule and post it next to a clock in your pit.
- ✦ Preview the track – walk it if you can and spot all turn stations, run-off areas, cues for the eyes, ears and butt for braking, turn in, apex, exit and course clearing.
- ✦ Gear up early – have helmet, gloves, balaclava in the car.

✦ Use pre-grid time to your advantage – drive the course in your mind, see the flag stations, key track points, and places to check gauges or approaching traffic.

✦ Go on track with one or two specific goals: not "set a blazing qualifying time," but "brake later in T1", or "carry more speed through T2". And be sure to experiment without traffic around you.

✦ De-brief after each session. Take your tire temps / pressures if you must – with the clipboard you left in a strategic spot – but then sit down and review your session, noting how well you met your goal and/or what you learned in the effort.

✦ Find help and delegate – If you are new to racing, this is one key advantage to renting from a full-service provider. You concentrate on your game; the provider supplies a reliable platform and takes care of the vehicle-related items.

Get plenty of rest and hydrate. Don't count on energy drinks to make you race worthy after burning the midnight oil during the days leading up to the race.

In short, to create more on-track brain space for racing, organize. Make lists so you don't have to remember the small stuff, set up a routine that works for you, and leave lots of time for each task. A calm brain is a happy brain. Then when you're out on track and the only focus is racing, that brain – all its parts and feedback devices – can work at 110%. And when it all comes together, your race experience is the best experience you can have with your clothes on.
