Messages from the President Race Steward & License Director

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Hello all –

My last submission was rather lengthy so I will try to keep this one short!

It seems that what effectively turned into a year off for most people in 2020 has given them some enthusiasm to get back to doing the things that bring value to their lives and get them the heck out of the house! There has been a good flow of drivers eager to get licensed and we have at least heard some questions or seen some interest from an encouraging number of potential novices. As of the end of March we have 130 ICSCC drivers either licensed or in process on the License Registrar's desk with more pouring in at a good rate.

On that subject – remember that all of our Licensing Fees are paid on MotorsportReg.com. A quick search of events on their front page with the search term ICSCC should bring up our annual driver licensing fee. Don't send checks and/or cash through the mail. In the near future we hope to have all of our licensing forms on MotorsportReg.com so you can fill out your paperwork AND pay your fees at the same time. For now remember that MotorsportReg.com is ONLY where you pay your fees. You still need to go to ICSCC.com and download your forms under the “reference” tab, fill them out, then scan them or take a clear picture with your phone and send them to the ICSCC License Registrar in one of the ways listed on the form. Just paying on MotorsportReg.com will not result in a license heading your way. It has happened enough times that I think maybe we need to explain it better!

Traffic on the forums over at ICSCC.com has dropped off over the years and I think it would be good if more people started posting and debating things that they think will make Conference stronger and better. Participation in the 2020 rules change system was particularly weak and Conference can only be what the Club Member Drivers who comprise it want it to be. We are not a “for profit” enterprise – we are a group of people who feel strongly enough about wanting to race at the amateur level to band together and share resources to make that happen. I start feeling like a broken record but let me assure you that there is no profit motive for the incredibly dedicated volunteers to make everything connected with Conference work. Every entry fee is utilized to pay the cost of putting on the events without accumulating more than enough to pay the next year's deposits. We understand that not everyone can afford the time and money to volunteer for the big jobs and we don't want people feeling like they shouldn't race because of it. Everyone can help in some way very occasionally and should feel obligated to do so as a club member pitching in to help all their fellow club members. The Canadian border was just confirmed to stay closed until at least April 21st which means it is getting perilously close to the beginning of the season. Canadians are a dedicated staple of Conference racing and both the dedicated volunteers and competitive drivers are sorely missed in many ways. If you know someone that you can talk into volunteering for even one weekend this year, or volunteer for a race that you can't drive in for some reason maybe that is how you contribute.

Just a quick warning – in my business we track the availability of lots of different raw materials and finished products. The freezing storms in Texas and Oklahoma knocked out a lot of chemical production that is going to affect both price and availability of certain raw materials for the next 90 days or so that find their way into a huge number of products. Make sure you get that car prepped early for the beginning of the season because you might find yourself waiting for some piece or part that you need for waaaaaay longer than you anticipated.

Look forward to seeing everyone soon – there WILL be a championship season this year so start planning how you are going to accumulate enough points to get a trophy and a cool patch for your driving suit!

STEWARD'S CORNER

Just a little more than a month to go till the beginning of the Conference race season. First race is at Portland on May 1-2. Hopefully, the offseason has allowed you to do all the maintenance and performance modifications you needed to or wanted.

While you are making your preparations, I recommend a quick review of the rule book, especially section 1106 regarding numbers, class markings, and minimum weights. Your competitors deserve to know what class you are running and it causes confusion and slow downs in the scale line. We will be enforcing this at each event.

Anyone with a new car or roll cage that needs a log book and does not have an SCCA or NASA log book, please contact me or Michael so we can inspect the cage. If we are doing this at the track, allow yourself some extra time on Friday afternoon/evening or nice an early on Saturday AM.

After a strange last season, it will be nice as some of the gathering restrictions are being lifted to get back to a normal season of racing. I have already been out a couple times with the new car. See you soon.

Rick Delamare

FROM THE LICENSE DIRECTOR

Before all else, huge tip of the cap to Steve Clinton, who served as your Conference License director for the past three seasons. As my dad used to say, "you never appreciate how big someone's shoes are until you put them on". Steve did a great job under some trying circumstances, and in the middle of a transformative moment for Conference. He passed on his lessons learned and offered guidance and counsel as I move in to the position.

However I ended up here, I want to extend thanks to the leadership of Conference for entrusting me with this new role. I will put my best foot forward to continuing the good work and finding ways to keep Conference successful.

Here are a few ramblings I'd like to drop out there that I see from this vantage point.

A growing cohort of drivers new to Conference are coming in by other means—other racing organizations or through enthusiast events—and we want to welcome all that we can. The trick, in part, is finding the balance between the barrier and the gateway to entry. That is- Conference has a reputation for a high standard of driver skill and discipline and we want to cultivate and maintain that standard.

But. Establish a bar too high, and frustration and ego can dissuade a potential competitor. Balance is key.

I will do what I can to vet new drivers who come with unconventional resumes, claims of past glory, or unverifiable skills before turning them loose in the race groups. As fellow racers, I am asking you all to use your judgment and experience to vouch new recruits. Nothing will go further than hearing that this is someone I want to race with, coming from your mouths. I will search you out and seek your input or caution when name dropping begins.

Observation. Steve noted that he got better feedback, and the drivers got better input, when the novice race included drivers performing the observations. I intend to continue this strategy, and want to encourage all drivers to commit to participating in at least one Novice race as a driver. Your participation, experience, and keen skills of observation will contribute to building a quality racing program for years ahead

See you at the track!

PRO3

The PRO3 Line Bill 'Blue Baron' Ecker and Jim Cissell

I can hear frogs awakening, buds are on the apple tree, and the grass has exploded back to its demanding high maintenance mode. Which really can only mean one thing, conference racing season is just around the next apex...er corner. Soon, 2.5-liter 5-speed BMW E30s will snort to life and resume the cycle of circuits here in the sunny (!) Pacific Northwest—as PRO3 racing once again takes to the track. Conference, led by clear-eyed optimists and determined realists, has already published its full slate of the 2021 championship racing season (<https://www.icscc.com/season.php>) featuring eight racing weekends including seven doubles and the return of the Spokane TRIPLE June 4-6.

If the creek don't rise, we'll once again revel in the company of our northern neighbors both as guests and hosts when the border opens. We sorely missed their spirit and bodies in the abbreviated 2020 non-championship season. Well, all except for that one guy. So here's to a healthy, competitive FULL season.

One place that looks to be full is the PRO3 paddock. If the shuffling of cars and rumors swirling about during the last 12 months are any indication, another surge is coming. Since the 2020 season—that wasn't delayed the title defense by Mr. Bercovitz, everyone in the pointy end has had that much more time to prepare. Perhaps 2021 will finally see the match up of Tipton, Northrup, McAffer, Byers, Bercovitz, Peters, Lowell, Hovington—and who knows who else that we've all waited to see.

Of course, the stalwart veterans will flush out the grid—the Wellers, Kelloggs, Storgaards and so on. Crafty seasoned competitors willing to use guile and cunning to elbow their place in the finishing order. If the past is prelude, once again the paddocks of PRO3 will provide the most robust, populous, and animated grid around. The PRO3 Line Bill 'Blue Baron' Ecker and Jim 'Croc Man' Cissell

Some long-term PRO3 cars will have new drivers this year—a hearty welcome and good luck to Fil Alleva, Scott Studerus, and Scott Ekert, driving the old 137, 42, 121 cars respectively. Long time alumnus Beef Wellington has moved off to unknown pastures, although one suspects he'll be back before long in something fast with four wheels and a number. Long-timer Tim O'Donnell listed the 105 car—one of the oldest (but still among the fastest) PRO3 cars around, having passed through Bob Mearns and Parker McKean along the way.

But with 89 PRO3 cars still running, everybody's got someone to race; hot youngsters with barely a season or two in PRO3 are clawing at the pace, now getting joined by fresh recruits in resurrected cars or cars moving around. There's even rumors of new, fresh builds underway both in the U.S. and Canada. Based on the traffic on social media and forums, none of the cars for sale lasted more than a week or so before changing owners.

So too, as it has always been, the rumors of the death of PRO3 were greatly exaggerated. Expect another year of outsized grids, pranks and hijinks at every race. Not to mention the green-to-checkers battles that are second to none.

Although IRDC has not released the official driver training schedule for 2021, furious plans are afoot to figure out how to continue to deliver quality instruction with masked social distancing restrictions in place. Stay tuned for more news on that.

or motorsportsreg.com

With all the canceled classes, there'll be a backlog trying to get in. And would-be racers who've had to wait this long are bound to get a little twitchy.

The ongoing PRO3 movie project is still afoot. The latest dispatch from the lines reads, “The documentary film “PRO3 E30: A Northwest Racing Legend” continues to grow. We finished the trailer back in December. You can see it at <https://vimeo.com/486663675>.

Director Dave Krygier and the post production team are hard at work assembling the director's cut, which is in final edit, and is planned for release in April 2021. The GoFundMe site should be back in operation by March 5—<https://bit.ly/2UU4ufQ>. To truly convey the excitement and fun that is PRO3, we need to raise another $5,000 to shoot another 2-3 days of racing action—hopefully without masks. We plan to finish the 22-minute broadcast version later this year. Dave says we'll then have enough for a 90-minute version if we choose to go there. Thanks for all your support.

Now, a few parting words from your faithful reporter. After an amazing six years in the paddock, driving these cars and being a part of this amazing collection of folk, I, Bill Ecker, will be assuming new and different roles at the track, which won't include PRO3. So I will hand in my pen and turn the torch over to Jim. It has been an amazing journey, from the first race in Portland all those years ago, to Laguna Seca among a throng of 15 PRO3 cars celebrating BMW's 100th Anniversary, to a Kevin Doyle champagne shower following an improbable victory in the Oregon rain. It has been a journey of a thousand steps, made with good spirits and great people.

You won't be rid of me, however. Among other things, I was nominated (recruited) (begged) (coerced) to become ICSCC license director, to facilitate getting new drivers onto the grid and prevent unqualified ones from getting there. So, I will be at every race. Missing rubbing paint with my pals in PRO3, but enjoying the show. Thanks for the welcome and the camaraderie. Nunc est Bibendum!

ed.... Many thanks to Jim Cissel for submitting this report on behalf of the PRO3 race group

As spring approaches, many of us are excited about getting back to the track. In past years, this was taken for granted. But this year is going to be special, and we are all going to savor going to PIR a little more than usual. The COVID situation is rapidly evolving in a good way, with cases down and vaccination numbers going up. Let's all cross our fingers that this trend continues. FOPIR is working closely with track management, city and park leadership to help ensure that PIR is approved to allow more people at events as restrictions are lifted. The situation is expected to change dramatically for the better in the coming months, so let's all be patient as track, city and state leadership make it happen.

April 2021 Swap Meet Cancelled

As some of you are aware, the April Auto Swap Meet has been canceled due to COVID. This event is one of the biggest events at PIR, so losing it for a second year in a row was painful, but necessary. The decision was made after reviewing the restrictions in place, the progression of COVID-19, and the safety and viability of the event given its size. Ensuring the health of vendors, attendees and the community will always be a top priority for the track and event organizers. Let's all plan on attending the swap meet in 2022.

60th Rose Cup Races is a GO for July 9 to 11, 2021

Looking further out into July, the COVID situation is expected to improve dramatically. FOPIR is very excited to announce that the 60th running of the Rose Cup Races is ON for July 2021.

We have been hard at work to secure exciting run groups and special events to celebrate the 60th running of this special event. This year we will honor the origins of the Rose Cup Races as a pure amateur event with many exciting run groups such as the featured Rose Cup Race (big bore), Vintage, Spec Racer Ford, Spec Miata, Small Bore, Formula Ford and Karts. In addition, Bridge City Autosports will be running an autocross in the North Paddock during all three days of the Rose Cup Races. The autocross will be open to the public to enter and as spectators.

If you are interested, be sure to sign up early since space is limited. In addition to all this competition, there will be car corrals, special exhibits of Rose Cup Race history and more. Check out RoseCup.com for more information including details for drivers, spectators, vendors, car clubs and more.
